

Stress-test a reform proposal

Apply the same standard when political power changes hands.

Which documented failure does the proposal address?

What authority exists, and what would require new law or another process?

Who evaluates evidence, who decides, and who can challenge the result?

How does it protect both an impaired leader and a capable leader?

Would I accept this rule for the other party, and what pilot result would change it?